How did we design a sustainable floating office building?

Designing a sustainable, floating office building was a challenging commission and we approached it in an integrated way. Our building's floating foundation - its concrete pontoon - needed to be constructed offsite at three separate locations, then put together and finally towed through the bridge leading to the Rijnhaven.

What is a modular container office?

Compared to traditional office spaces, modular container offices generally have lower upfront costs. Additionally, their energy-efficient designs help reduce ongoing expenses, making them a cost-effective solution for budget-conscious businesses. Quick Setup: Modular container offices can be delivered and assembled quickly, often within days.
