

Solar container patent infringement

Trina Solar has filed a lawsuit against Canadian Solar and its subsidiary, seeking $147 million in damages for alleged infringement of tunnel oxide passivated contact (TOPCon) cell patents. ...

Maxeon has filed two different lawsuits in the United States against Hanwha Qcells and REC over claims that the two manufacturers used an unspecified tunnel oxide passivated contact ...

First Solar believes the above five competitors are infringing its patents on a leading solar technology, executives said on a conference call on Tuesday. In July, First Solar said it held ...

To protect its intellectual property, Trinasolar filed a patent infringement lawsuit in the U.S. District Court of Delaware that concerns Canadian Solar products sold in the U.S. that infringe ...

FREMONT, Calif., November 19, 2024 - Trinasolar US, a global leader in smart solar products and solutions, today announces that the United States International Trade Commission ...

Having considered Trina's complaint, filed on October 23, 2024, the U.S. government ordered an investigation of whether Canadian Solar is in violation of Section 337 of the Tariff Act of ...

Canadian Solar has previously denied infringement on several occasions. In May 2024, Trina Solar detained nine container modules exported to Europe through customs, but Canadian ...

The reporter also noted that the patent disputes between the current round of photovoltaic leaders are focused on TOPCon technology. Among them, the TOPCon patents sued by ...

Web: <https://www.lpsolar.co.za>

